

Academic Questionnaire

English Version - Paper Questionnaire

The transition from traditional banks to Islamic banks and its role in the development of the Mauritanian banking system in light of the experiences of some Arab countries

Doctoral Research by Maryam Limam

Dear Bank Directors and Employees,

As part of her doctoral thesis, doctoral researcher Maryam Limam invites you to complete this academic questionnaire. It aims to collect your opinions and professional experience regarding the current state of this transition, the challenges it faces, and the results achieved following its implementation.

All responses will be used exclusively for academic research purposes and will be treated with strict confidentiality.

Thank you for your time and valuable cooperation.

Response Instructions - Three-Point Likert Scale

☐ Agree

☐ Neutral

☐ Disagree

Select one response for each statement.

Section 1: Drivers of the Transition from Traditional Banks to Islamic Banks

1. The Mauritanian banking market is showing growing interest in Islamic financial services.

☐ Agree☐ Neutral☐ Disagree

2. The transition from traditional banks to Islamic banks was a response to the growing demand for Islamic financial services.

☐ Agree☐ Neutral☐ Disagree

3. The transition to Islamic banking helps strengthen customers' trust in the bank.

☐ Agree☐ Neutral☐ Disagree

4. Traditional banks are increasingly seeking to add further Islamic banking products to their services.

☐ Agree☐ Neutral☐ Disagree

5. The success of Islamic banking experiences in the Arab region provides an incentive for Mauritanian banks.

☐ Agree☐ Neutral☐ Disagree

6. The transition to Islamic banking helps improve the competitiveness of banks that have made the transition.

☐ Agree☐ Neutral☐ Disagree

7. The transition helps attract customers who wish to avoid conventional banking transactions.

☐ Agree☐ Neutral☐ Disagree

8. Establishing Islamic windows within traditional banks represents a practical transitional stage toward becoming Islamic banks.

☐ Agree☐ Neutral☐ Disagree

Section 2: Challenges in the Transition from Traditional Banks to Islamic Banking

9. Banks face a shortage of qualified human resources specializing in Islamic banking.

☐ Agree☐ Neutral☐ Disagree

10. The transition requires fundamental changes to banks' organizational structures.

☐ Agree☐ Neutral☐ Disagree

11. Transition costs are among the main obstacles facing traditional banks.

☐ Agree☐ Neutral☐ Disagree

12. The information systems currently in use need to be developed to meet the requirements of Islamic banking.

☐ Agree☐ Neutral☐ Disagree

13. Some legal and regulatory aspects still require further adaptation to support the transition.

☐ Agree☐ Neutral☐ Disagree

14. Bank employees face challenges in understanding Islamic financing modes and their application mechanisms.

☐ Agree☐ Neutral☐ Disagree

15. The transition process is carried out under specialized Sharia supervisory bodies.

☐ Agree☐ Neutral☐ Disagree

16. Limited practical experience in bank transformation represents a challenge for banks.

☐ Agree☐ Neutral☐ Disagree

17. Concerns related to operational risks slow down the transition process.

☐ Agree☐ Neutral☐ Disagree

18. Training and professional development programs are available and accessible to employees.

☐ Agree☐ Neutral☐ Disagree

Section 3: Expected Outcomes of the Transition from Traditional Banks to Islamic Banking

19. The transition expands the bank's customer base and increases the volume of its deposits.

☐ Agree

☐ Neutral

☐ Disagree

20. The transition enables the bank to offer a more diverse range of financial products.

☐ Agree

☐ Neutral

☐ Disagree

21. The transition supports the financing of economic and investment activities.

☐ Agree

☐ Neutral

☐ Disagree

22. The transition strengthens the bank's ability to respond to local market needs.

☐ Agree

☐ Neutral

☐ Disagree

23. The transition helps improve the bank's institutional image.

☐ Agree

☐ Neutral

☐ Disagree

24. The transition may have a positive effect on the bank's long-term financial performance.

☐ Agree

☐ Neutral

☐ Disagree

25. The transition helps increase opportunities for innovation in banking products.

☐ Agree

☐ Neutral

☐ Disagree

26. The prospects for Islamic banking in Mauritania appear promising if the necessary regulatory and human-resource conditions are met.

☐ Agree

☐ Neutral

☐ Disagree

27. The transition contributes to increasing the maturity of the Islamic finance industry in the country.

☐ Agree

☐ Neutral

☐ Disagree

Open-Ended Question

What are the main measures you would propose to facilitate the transition of traditional banks to Islamic banks in Mauritania?

Final Section: General InformationSex☐ Male☐ FemaleAge☐ Under 30☐ 30 to 40☐ 41 to 50Education Level☐ Secondary school☐ Bachelor's degree☐ Master's degree☐ Doctorate☐ Vocational training☐ OtherPosition☐ Director☐ Department head☐ Banking operations officer☐ Financing or credit officer☐ Administrative employee☐ Other service roleYears of Experience☐ Under 5 years☐ 5 to 10 years☐ 11 to 15 years☐ More than 15 yearsBank Where You Work☐ BMCI☐ BCI☐ BNM☐ SGM☐ BPM☐ Other bankHave you previously participated in courses or training related to Islamic banking?☐ Yes☐ No